

MESSAGE FROM THE CHAIRPERSON

Dear Readers,

It is with profound pride and great pleasure that I extend my warmest greetings to all the contributors, readers, and supporters of the MAGLAW Student Journal as we present Volume 3, Issue 2. Building upon the remarkable success of our preceding volumes, this journal continues to stand as a testament to the intellectual rigor and scholarly excellence of our law students.

The MAGLAW Student Journal has firmly established itself as a distinguished platform for legal discourse, fostering an environment where emerging legal minds can articulate their insights, present their research, and critically analyze contemporary legal issues. The unwavering quality and relevance of the articles published in previous editions have set a formidable benchmark—one we are resolutely committed to maintaining and exceeding with each successive issue.

Volume 3, Issue 2, promises a diverse and enriching array of legal scholarship, encompassing topics that reflect the dynamic and evolving nature of the legal domain. The contributions featured herein underscore not only the analytical acumen of our students but also their capacity to grapple with complex legal challenges and offer innovative, forward-thinking solutions.

I wish to extend my heartfelt gratitude to the editorial board for their unwavering commitment and meticulous efforts in curating this journal. Their dedication to ensuring rigorous review and thoughtful selection has been instrumental in preserving the journal's reputation for excellence.

To our esteemed readers, I express my deepest appreciation for your continued engagement and support. Your interest and feedback are invaluable, inspiring us to strive for even greater heights in our academic and intellectual endeavors.

As we unveil Volume 3, Issue 2, I am confident that the articles within will spark meaningful discussions and contribute significantly to the broader legal community. I encourage you to approach this issue with the same enthusiasm and intellectual curiosity that our contributors have so passionately imbued into their writings.

Thank you for your continued participation in this academic journey. Together, let us celebrate and advance the pursuit of legal knowledge and scholarship.

Prof. (Dr.) Vandana Arora
Chairperson-Department of Laws &
Patron-in Chief, MAGLAW

MESSAGE FROM THE EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

Dear Contributors and Readers,

As we proudly present Volume 3, Issue 2 of the MAGLAW Student Journal, I extend my deepest gratitude to our dedicated authors, meticulous reviewers, and enthusiastic readers whose unwavering support sustains this scholarly endeavor. Our journal stands as a beacon of intellectual pursuit and a vibrant platform for the brightest legal minds to shape and contribute to the ever-evolving landscape of legal scholarship.

This issue provides an opportune moment to underscore the paramount importance of research integrity and ethics. The pursuit of knowledge is rooted in the foundational principles of honesty, transparency, and accountability. As scholars, it is incumbent upon us to uphold these values in every facet of our work. Original research and critical thinking form the bedrock of academic excellence, and we must strive to contribute meaningful, authentic insights to the growing body of legal literature.

In an era where technological advancements significantly enhance research and writing, it is crucial to reflect on the role of artificial intelligence (AI) in scholarly pursuits. While AI can be a powerful tool to streamline research processes and refine analytical efforts, we must exercise discernment to ensure it remains a complement, not a substitute, for our intellectual rigor and creativity. An over-reliance on AI-generated content risks diluting our contributions and stifling the originality essential for legal innovation. I urge all contributors to harness AI judiciously, allowing it to augment rather than replace their unique perspectives and analytical endeavors.

Furthermore, I wish to reaffirm the journal's unwavering commitment to a zero-tolerance policy for plagiarism. Academic dishonesty not only tarnishes the reputation of individuals but also compromises the integrity of the scholarly community as a whole. Plagiarism constitutes a grave breach of ethical standards and will not be tolerated under any circumstances. To safeguard the authenticity of our publication, all submissions undergo rigorous scrutiny to ensure originality. I encourage our authors to meticulously credit their sources and to uphold the highest standards of scholarly integrity.

To our aspiring legal scholars, I extend a challenge: venture boldly into unexplored territories of legal thought, present fresh perspectives, and propose innovative solutions to contemporary legal challenges. Such endeavors not only enrich your intellectual journey but also contribute meaningfully to the broader discourse within the legal community.

As we move forward, let us collectively commit to fostering a culture of academic excellence and unwavering ethical standards. Together, we can advance the boundaries of legal knowledge and uphold the prestige of the MAGLAW Student Journal.

Thank you for your continued support and dedication. I am confident that this issue will inspire, enlighten, and provoke thoughtful dialogue among our readers, leaving a lasting impact on the legal scholarly community.

Prof. Shipra Gupta
Editor-in-Chief
MAGLAW Student Journal
Department of Laws, Panjab University

MESSAGE FROM STUDENT EDITORS

"The power of the law lies not only in its words but in its ability to transform society."

Dear Readers,

As Student Editors of MAGLAW, we express our heartfelt gratitude to the Editorial Board for their unwavering guidance and support. Their expertise has been instrumental in elevating this journal as a beacon of legal thought and scholarship.

This issue presents a collection of meticulously crafted articles and analyses that delve into pressing legal issues, offering fresh perspectives and innovative solutions. We hope it serves as a source of inspiration, encouraging you to explore the profound impact of law on society.

Thank you for your continued support and trust in our publication.

Student Editors
MAGLAW Student Journal
Department of Laws, Panjab University